

AGRO SHOW 2025, the largest outdoor agricultural exhibition in Europe, will take place from September 19 to 21, 2025, in Bednary near Poznań, Poland. This prestigious event, organized for over 25 years by the Polish Chamber of Commerce for Agricultural Machines and Facilities, annually attracts tens of thousands of farmers, experts, and entrepreneurs, along with several hundred leading exhibitors showcasing the latest machinery and innovations for agriculture.

AGRO SHOW is not just a showcase of machines but also a space for development for both exhibitors and visitors. Companies promote their products and establish business contacts, while farmers gain inspiration and exchange experiences. Participants include producers and importers of machinery, fertilizers, feed, and suppliers of parts and agricultural services. Exhibitors come from many European and Asian countries, highlighting the international character of the event.

One of the program highlights is the dynamic demonstrations of agricultural machinery in operation on demonstration fields. These practical presentations allow visitors to see equipment working, helping them better understand its capabilities and efficiency.

The event will also feature the finals of prestigious competitions: "Mechanic for the Medal" and "Young Mechanic for the Medal." The competitions "Mechanic for the Medal" and "Young Mechanic for the Medal," organized by the Polish Chamber of Commerce for Agricultural Machines and Facilities, aim to promote the profession of agricultural machinery mechanics and recognize individuals with exceptional skills in this field. These competitions attract participants from all over Poland. Five finalists in each competition, who demonstrated the best knowledge and practical skills, were selected through online elimination rounds. Through this initiative, mechanics can gain prestige, exchange experiences, and further develop their skills in a professional environment. On Friday, the best young mechanic among vocational school and technical school students will be selected, and on Saturday, the best professional mechanic representing workshops will be recognized.

The Influencer Zone has been redesigned to offer meetings with influencers discussing topics related to combining agriculture with online work. People can meet their favorite influencers and get to know them better. This new format allows participants to access more authentic and valuable content and directly ask questions to specialists in these fields.

Special chill zones will be set up on the exhibition grounds, providing comfortable spaces for visitors to rest and unwind after touring the entire exhibition area. These zones are designed to be enjoyable and comfortable for both adults and families with children.

Tickets can be purchased on the organizer's website or at exhibition entrances, with online purchases offering a reduced price and the possibility to buy exhibition-related merchandise. Organized groups can receive transportation subsidies, and free parking is available for visitors arriving by car.

The exhibition will be open to visitors from Friday to Sunday, between 9:00 AM and 5:00 PM. All detailed information about the event will be continuously published on the official AGRO SHOW website and on the organizer's social media profiles.
